This morning, I got out of bed and immediately stubbed my toe on a (1) _____ [noun]. What a (2) _____ [adjective] way to start the day. After that, I got dressed and grabbed some (3) _____ [food] for breakfast.

Making my way to campus, I made it to class where my professor announced there would be a (4) _____ [adjective] quiz today. I panicked because I had been (5) _____ [verb ending in -ing] instead madlib!

For my second madlib comp, I completely got rid of the heading. I felt that it was taking too much space and focus away from the main content. I also added a scroll bar to the results page so that it could save on space, while keeping the content the same size. Additionally, I cleaned up the design itself and smoothed out some of the edges.
